To Whom It May Concern:

Kathy Poelker of Look At Me Productions was the keynote for the Iowa Association for the Education of Young Children annual 2005 conference. Kathy provided not only a keynote presentation but 5 breakout sessions throughout the two day event.

Kathy is a gifted musician. Her presentations are filled with music and movement all of which are based on brain research and proven teaching methods. As an added bonus they are also fun!

Conference attendees rated her sessions as excellent. The combination of learning and fun made her time go quickly and attendees complained that her sessions were not long enough. Luckily she presented many times so that participants could attend more than one of her sessions.

In working with Kathy I found that she was not just concerned with being the conference keynote and what that entailed but rather that everyone could experience one of her sessions so that she could share her message. She is dedicated early childhood professional.

I would highly recommend Kathy Poelker as a speaker for your event!

Sincerely,
